RBC Presents Olympic Torch Painting to NIC

The Royal Bank of Canada's Regional Vice President, Mark Lovick, presented North Island College with a painting commemorating the 2010 Olympic Torch Relay today, at a ceremony held at NIC's Comox Valley campus.

The painting was created on a large canvas, by artist Fritz Branschat, on-stage during the Olympic Torch Relay celebrations held November 2, 2009 at Lewis Park. Those attending the Torch Relay celebrations will remember Fritz, his spinning wheel and the dramatic explosion of paint and energy, which culminated in the vibrant piece of art presented to North Island College.

In making the presentation, Lovick stated "RBC, as an enthusiastic sponsor of the Olympics, is pleased to present this lasting legacy of the 2010 Torch Relay to North Island College."

Accepting on behalf of North Island College, President Jan Lindsay, expressed delight at receiving the gift. "This is a wonderful gift and keepsake of the 2010 Olympics. We gratefully accept the painting on behalf of the residents of the Comox Valley and will ensure that it is displayed prominently for all to see."

The painting will be displayed in the Library at NIC's Comox Valley campus. All are welcome to drop by to view the painting.
