North Island College – Let’s Get Started

Orientation for new and returning students at the Comox Valley campus

North Island College is rolling out the welcome mat on Tuesday, September 7, with a variety of informative activities for students attending the College this fall. Morning and afternoon classes (those scheduled before 4 pm) have been cancelled to make way for a full day of helpful and fun events, beginning at 9 am.

Throughout the day, students can attend short workshops on “Smart Study Tips”, “E-learning in the internet age”, “Pathways to Employment”, “The Secret to Writing Success”, and many, many others. Faculty will also be providing an overview of their program areas. A complimentary barbecue lunch will be served beginning at noon, featuring DJ All Good and great prizes from local businesses.

Orientation Day is often a student’s first introduction to the people, places and resources on campus that will make their first year successful. You can locate your classrooms, meet your instructors, and visit the library and bookstore. Returning students can reconnect with classmates and instructors, buy course materials, and find out what’s new at the College.

Students enjoy a free barbecue lunch at Orientation 2009.

Thanks to the support of the North Island Students’ Union and 98.9 Jet FM, this year’s Orientation Day is shaping up to be another huge success.

It all happens Tuesday, September 7. Join us to discover everything your College has to offer. For complete event details, visit www.nic.bc.ca.
